REGISTRATIONS

American Institute of Certified Planners

“In the initial phases of master planning and urban design, while our clients typically represent either the private or public sectors, their common needs are an integration of both; hence, our mission must be to skillfully accommodate the quality of life needs and market demands of both within the same assignment.”

Brian has been with GFF since 1996 and has since acquired extensive experience on a wide variety of projects, making himself a valuable asset to the firm. His outstanding abilities have enabled him to work on significant architectural projects including educational and church facilities, corporate office facilities and retail centers.
